PACIFIC RATE WAR STARTED BY JAPANESE COMPANIES

Blue Funnel And Canadian Pacific Meet Cuts

LUMBER CHARGES

Quotations Reduced $3 Per Thousand Feet

(China Press Service)
Washington, April 5.—The American Consul-General at Vancouver, British Columbia, has reported to the Department of Commerce that "an aggressive steamship rate war is impending in the Orient."

According to the report the Blue Funnel and Japanese lines admit that a war is on resulting from recent cuts in rates between American and Oriental ports. While the Canadian Pacific is not directly involved it has announced that it would meet all competition. Lumber rates have already been reduced from $15 to $12 per thousand feet. Grain rates have also been lowered from four to six dollars a ton and general merchandise has gone down on an average of two dollars per ton.

Liang Gets New 20 Days 'Vacation'

(Reuter's Pacific Service)
Peking, April 5.—The Official Gazette today contains the announcement that Mr. Liang Shih-yi has been granted another twenty days leave. Dr. Yen, announcing that he would return to Peking at seven o'clock this evening, urged that the question of the Premier's absence should be settled as quickly as possible in order to prevent further political disorganization.

From this message official circles believe that Dr. Yen will continue to act as Premier until the matter is settled. According to reports from the Presidency there is still a likelihood of General Pao Kwei-ching taking that office, but this optimism is not generally shared.

At Cabinet meetings five Ministers are represented by Vice-Ministers, namely, Communications, War, Education, Justice and Finance, while only four Ministers attend—Dr. Yen, Minister of Foreign Affairs and Acting Premier, Mr. Kao Ling-wei, Minister of the Interior, Admiral Li, Minister of the Navy, and Mr. Chi Yao-shan, Minister of Commerce.

The position is being compared with that of the days of Chang Hsun, during the period of the Monarchical Restoration.

Members Of Tibetan Bureau Quit Posts

(Reuter's Pacific Service)
Peking, April 5.—Prince Kalaiching and practically the whole of the staff of the Tibetan and Mongolian Affairs Bureau, with the exception of Mr. Chen Ting-chieh, have resigned, as a protest against the closing of the P'u Yu Temple by the police authorities. It appears that this temple has been looked upon as the property of the Manchou House, but it has been under the control of the Tibetan and Mongolian Affairs Bureau since the revolution. Lately it was reported to the police that treasures of the temple were being removed. The Bureau was not believed to be concerned in the removal of the works of art, but it was in control of the temple when General Wang Hual-ching gave orders for the temple to be closed by the police, and Prince Kalaiching apparently has taken the affair as an affront to the Bureau.

According to a later report Prince Kalaiching has been persuaded by the President to remain in office as President of the Bureau.

COALITION WINS

(Reuter's Service)
London, April 5.—After a most lively debate on the resolution of Sir Wm. Joynson-Hicks, which was tantamount to a motion of no confidence in the Government, the House of Commons, by 288 to 95 votes, carried an amendment in favor of upholding the Coalition. The minority consisted of Diehards, Laborites and Independent Liberals.

AIRPLANE BURNS AT PAOTINGFU; 15 LOSE LIVES

Cigarette Blamed For China's Worst Air Disaster

(Chung Mei Service)
Peking, April 5.—The worst accident in the history of Chinese Aviation occurred Friday afternoon when the recently assembled Handley Page bombing plane at Paotingfu caught fire while in flight and crashed to the ground burning to death fifteen of its passengers. The only occupant to escape was the pilot, Lieut. Ma Yu-fang, who is now in the Taylor Memorial Hospital and is not expected to live.

The machine left the ground at 2 p.m. on the afternoon of the 31st at the Paotingfu aerodrome and after a short circle about the field set out for a flight over a neighboring town. A few minutes later smoke was observed to be coming from the aeroplane and shortly after it burst into flames.

The pilot, one of the most brilliant graduates of the aviation school, endeavored to bring the machine to the ground. About one hundred feet from the ground the left wing which was almost totally burned away, snapped off but the pilot succeeded in making a landing.

The observers from the field arrived immediately and succeeded in dragging out the pilot who was rushed to a hospital. Fifteen other passengers had been burned almost beyond recognition.

The flight had been scheduled as a reconnaissance instruction. The passengers besides the pilot consisted of Ma Kwei-shan and Chow Chua-ling, officers of the Peking Air Department, two mechanics, two officers from the Paotingfu Staff, and nine other officers from the 23rd Chihli Division, stationed at Paotingfu.

The fire is said to have broken out in the cockpit. The origin is not known, but it is alleged that one of the passengers threw down a lighted cigarette and ignited part of the gasoline soaked wood. The pilot made a brave fight for it and kept his head. That he was able to bring the plane to earth is considered remarkable.

Educators Asking For Boxer Funds

(Chung Mei Service)
Peking, April 5.—The President's Office has just received an urgent telegram from the Educational Association of the Sui Yuan Special Area, which requests that the Central Government set apart the Boxer indemnity fund solely for the use of endowment funds for eleven provincial educational systems. It is stated that expenses must be met and the Boxer Fund ought to be applied for purely educational purposes and for no other. It is not yet known what reply will be forthcoming from the President, but it is known that similar advice has been received from other organizations and sources.

GERVE BARONTI READS NEW PLAY TO LEAGUE HERE

An interesting innovation for the monthly business meeting of the Woman's Overseas League, held Wednesday at the American Consulate was the reading by Mrs. G. A. Bena (Gerve Baronti) of her play "The Phoenix."

Miss Baronti's play touches with sure, deft fingers the trying period of adolescence, in which so many children, at the most impressionable time of their lives, are misunderstood, and, in this unhappy, unfortunate age, make mistakes that often mar the fabric of their lives irreparably.

Lotta, the child of the play, is one of these victims, with a mother who is unable to train her child properly because she does not understand her and, in failing to understand her, deprives her of the love which the starved nature of the girl reaches out for. It is in groping for love that the girl makes her big mistake.

Miss Baronti has given the sad little story a happy ending, however, for the girl's character asserts itself and she triumphs, rising, finally, "like the Phoenix out of the ashes."

Besides her play, Miss Baronti read several of her poems and her new Indian stories.

At the business meeting there was a discussion of the housing problem in Shanghai as it affects American girls, newly arrived here.

The next meeting of the League will be held on May 3, when the election of a new president will take place.

Survivors Of Suwo Brought To Port On Steamer Shantung

Captain Hirota and twenty-seven members of the crew of the ill-fated steamer Suwo Maru, wrecked near Swatow last Monday, arrived in Shanghai yesterday on the China Navigation Company's steamer Shantung.

The Shantung picked up the Captain and crew of the Suwo after they had abandoned the ship when it went ashore at White Rock, the Lammoaks, at 6:30 a.m. Monday. The Suwo was bound from Keelung to Hongkong. The wrecked vessel, according to reports, will be a total loss.

The Suwo Maru is owned by the Toyo Kaimun Company of Fushiki and was carrying a cargo of 1,146 tons of coal.

MINE UNION CHIEF SAYS MEN DESIRE EARLY PEACE

Lewis Appears Before House Committee

UP TO OPERATORS

No Union Workers Man Pits In 14 Districts

(China Press Service)
Washington, April 5.—President J. D. Lewis of the United Mine Workers addressed the House Committee of Labor which is considering the appointment of a commission to investigate the coal industry.

He told them that the miners were desirous of ending the strike at the earliest.

"Resumption of production," he said, "depends entirely on the attitude of the operators."

Lewis said he favored an investigating committee who should make a thorough probe into the condition of the employees.

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, April 5.—Mr. Nolan, the chairman of the committee investigating the coal strike, has telegraphed to the mine owners in the central bituminous coalfield that the United Mine Workers are willing to meet the mine owners' representatives with a view to the settlement of the strike.

He suggested that a meeting should be held at Washington on April 10.

Cleveland, April 5.—The Pittsburg Mine Owners Association have declined the invitation of Mr. Nolan, Chairman of the Committee investigating the strike, to meet the United Mine Workers, with a view to settling the strike. Several sub-divisions of the Mine-owners' Associations in the bituminous coalfield are meeting to consider Mr. Nolan's proposal.

(China Press Service)

Washington, April 5.—Chairman Lewis of the House Labor Committee telegraphed to coal operators in Indiana, Illinois and Ohio that President Lewis had said that the United Mine Workers were willing to confer with the representative body of operators. He suggested Washington and April 10 for the meeting.

(China Press Service)

Chicago, April 5.—Reports come that in fourteen districts in Kentucky, West Virginia, non-union miners are going ahead with their work at full speed and are not affected by the strike.

British Engineering Unions Split On Technical Points

(Reuter's Service)
London, April 5.—The point on which the Trade Unions split is, that the Amalgamated Engineering Union, consisting of skilled hands, refuse to concede the point that managerial functions shall prevail in the shops subject to any modification that may be agreed upon as a result of subsequent negotiations, whereas 47 unions, consisting of unskilled and semi-unskilled hands, are agreeable to the exercise of managerial functions prior to negotiations, but which they have accepted these principles as a new basis for negotiations, the application of them raises big questions that must be settled before an agreement can be reached.

It was emphasised today that a settlement is still possibly remote, but the recriminations of the divided unions have already occasioned talk of "Black Tuesday" comparable with "Black Friday" when the triple alliance collapsed.

FRANCE'S DEBT NOW PLACED AT F.25,000,000,000

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, April 6.—It is pointed out that France this year will be liable to pay interest on a debt of 25,000,000,000 francs at the present rate of exchange, consequent on the non-renewal of the Franco-British Convention (mentioned yesterday).

The Echo de Paris couples the matter with the United States' demanding interest on British loans and says that the French Government will have to take stock of the whole position before replying to the British Note and that the question of inter-allied debts must be tackled comprehensively.

CAPTAIN EVANS' LECTURE

The hall room at the Country Club was well filled on the occasion of the lecture on "The South Pole Expedition" by Captain E. R. G. R. Evans, C. B., D. S. O., R. N., on Monday last and it is safe to say that a more keenly interested and appreciative audience has not often been brought together in Shanghai. The actual lecture has been already reported and all that is here necessary is to express the very deep appreciation of the Association to this distinguished lecturer. A word of thanks too is due to the ladies of the Entertainment Committee for the admirable manner in which they carried out tea arrangements for an unusually large number of members and their friends. The sum of $425 was collected during the interval and the suggestion from Captain Evans that the B. W. A. should, after defraying the few trifling expenses, divide the amount between the Union Jack Club and the Hospital Aid Department of the Social Service Board in Memory of Sir Ernest Shackleton was received with pleasure.

SPECIAL SERVICE BOARD
The result of the last meeting of the Hospital Aid Department was the sending of sheets, 12 towels, 10 pillow cases and 200 bandages to Ningpo and 24 towels, 6 pillow cases, 9 bandages and a lot of old linen to Hangchow.

Sir Edward Pearce

KNIGHTED BY PRINCE OF WALES

Sir Edward Charles Pearce was born in London in April, 1862, so his knighthood comes somewhat in the nature of a "birthday" honor. Coming to Shanghai 38 years ago, he has long been identified with civic and commercial affairs in this Settlement, is a member of the Boards of Directors of many Shanghai companies and was a member of the Municipal Council for eight years, three of which he served as chairman. With Mr. E. F. Mackay, he went to Hongkong to welcome the Prince of Wales in behalf of the British residents, not only of Shanghai, but of China's outposts.

Sir Edward is the son of the late

The following congratulatory telegram was despatched to Sir Edward Charles Pearce by the Committee of the Royal Society of St. George's yesterday following the receipt of word of Sir Edward's Knighthood:

"Committee Royal Society of

John Swaine and Elizabeth Claburn Pearce. He was educated at Charterhouse, Godalming, England and in 1894 ten years after he first came to China, he was married to Marion Everett.

Sir Edward is an ardent sportsman and has been a member of the committee or president of practically every sports organization in Shanghai. He is now the managing director of Liberty and Company. News of the honor bestowed on one of Shanghai's leading citizens, also the first to be made a Freeman by the ratepayers of the International Settlement, was received with hearty satisfaction in Shanghai today. Expressions of approval were unanimous.

St. George instruct me to convey their greetings and hearty congratulations to you as their knightly president on the well-deserved honor conferred on you by his Majesty.

TRENCHARD DAVIS, Vice-President, Royal Society of St. George's.

war and yourself donned the cuirass and the helm.

"COMFORTED SOLDIERS"
You comforted your soldiers and shared their joys and hardships.

You were present at your post and shirked not pain or danger. Till at the last you prevailed to sound the clarion of victory in the field, and to raise the psalm of triumph o'er the vanquished.

Verily your merit o'ershadowed the age, and your fame covers the world.

Scarcely were the weapons of warfare sheathed ere you received the Royal Envoy's staff.

You bore your floating banner to the lands that own your sway, and the enrolled nations felt their loyalty grow yet deeper.

You went with gifts of polished jade to the countries that hold your friendship, and the glad bond of sworn faith was drawn yet closer.

And now once more you have driven forth from the Royal City, and stayed your steeds in the Fragrant Isle.

Her thickly clustered dwellings are blessed as by the beneficence of bright rain.

Her plants and trees and other living things are touched as by the virtue of creative spring.

Whithersoever your radiance reaches, songs of praise rise with one accord; in the rhythmic movement of hands and feet, we show forth our sincerity of heart.

Brighter the Sun, Rounder the Moon—Your Royal Highness, reacheth to a fuller power. We pray for unbounded blessings on your Royal Highness that we the people, may received never-failing peace.

Reverently with folded hands and bowed heads we offer our hymn of praise:

Hall, Imperial England, thy might hath no peer.

Within the realms that Ocean circles.

Great is thy call, Oh Heir to the Throne;

Thy ways are a pattern to all the World.

Through the charm of thy person, thou makest known.

Thy Sire's virtue to distant lands.

At the altar of covenant, thou hast thy place.

To this islet set in a magic sea, 'Tis vouchsafed to welcome thine Phoenix banner.

The heavens reveal a smiling face.

And earth resounds with shouts of gladness.

May abundant blessings be showered down, and happiness descend upon all living things.

With uplifted faces we acknowledge thy sheltering care.

We are clothed with honor that shall not pass away.

ADDRESS BY THE AMERICAN CONSUL GENERAL

To His Royal Highness Edward Prince of Wales.

May it please Your Royal Highness, Sir:

My colleagues of the Consular Corps and I deeply appreciate the opportunity afforded us on this occasion to associate ourselves and our respective nationals in Hongkong with the welcome extended to Your Royal Highness by the subjects of His Majesty the King and by the Chinese citizens of this community.

We have watched with interest the stages of Your Royal Highness' journey to the Far East, up to the present moment. Your Royal Highness has visited British territory, and has been singularly successful in drawing closer together different classes and races within the British Empire. After leaving Hongkong Your Royal Highness will travel beyond the confines of that Empire, and will, we are convinced, be equally successful in strengthening the bonds of sympathy and understanding between the peoples of the world.

In the solution of the problems now facing statesmen in all civilized countries, every nation is alike vitally concerned. And we recognize in Your Royal Highness one who will always uphold just dealings, between men and between nations.

In presenting this address, we desire to signify our profound respect for Your Royal Highness, and our realization of the beneficent influence exerted by His Majesty the King, through Your Royal Highness, and by Your Royal Highness directly, on the course of public events in these distraught and critical times.

We venture to predict for Your Royal Highness the continued success of your present undertaking and the complete accomplishment of the high objects of your mission.

Hongkong, April 6.—Replying to the address from the Chinese community the Prince of Wales said: "The life of the Colony and its prosperity is dependent upon the co-operation of the British and Chinese dwellers on the Island."

"Bordering on ancient China, with her centuries of history and experience, Hongkong forms a meeting place that should be of mutual advantage to both civilizations.

"Britain has always displayed a lively and unflinching interest in the development of China, and in all that appertains to its prosperity, and your zeal in the promotion of the Colony's welfare, combined with the cordial friendship that has always existed between the two races in Hongkong, augurs well for its future advancement."

Hongkong, April 6.—The Prince, who looked extremely well in his white naval uniform, was accorded a splendid reception everywhere along the route to Government House, whence he was borne by a chair carried by eight coolies in the gubernatorial uniform of red and white. The chair was of cane.

upholstered in crimson and gold with the emblematic feathers worked in relief on the two sides, the high canopy reposing on gilded supports.

The route was via the main thoroughfares of Chater Road, Pedder Street into Queen's Road, up Garden Road and Albert Road and thence to Government House.

The streets were thickly lined with people, mostly Chinese, and every window, verandah and other edge of vantage was occupied. There were almost continuous outbursts of cheering as His Royal Highness passed. At one point some Chinese suddenly let off a number of crackers which gave reports almost as loud as rifle shots and which made the members of the Prince's entourage—not so accustomed to such noises—startle the local inhabitants—look round wonderingly.

The route from the pavilion to Government House was lined with detachments of soldiers from the British and Indian infantry and artillery, battalions of Royal Marines and sailors from the different British warships, volunteers and police, all armed with fixed bayonets.

Hongkong, April 6.—The Prince conversed for a few minutes with Mr. William Gale, the United States Consul-General, after the latter had presented the address in behalf of the Consular Body this morning.

Hongkong, April 6.—Arriving at Government House, the Prince of Wales inspected troops of Boy Scouts, Girl Guides and Wolf Cubs, after which he presented the Scout's gift cross to Patrol Leader Mr. Kwok-chung for bravery displayed in the rescue of a boy from drowning.

This afternoon His Royal Highness was given a reception by 500 ex-service men. In the course of a brief address the Prince said: "I am sorry I am not going to see the ex-service men of Shanghai and other parts of China. Perhaps you will give them a message from me. I wish everybody out here the best of luck."

PRINCE MAKES REPLY

Replying to the address of welcome from the British community in Hongkong the Prince of Wales delivered the following speech: "It is a source of great pleasure to me to visit this far-flung outpost of the British Empire and I am sincerely grateful to you for the words in which you welcome me here today. The enterprise and perseverance of British pioneers in the last century, whose foresight in establishing this colony on what was then a barren and unhealthy island, has brought its reward to the succeeding generations. This splendid harbor and rapidly growing docks, the houses and roads that are being built in every direction together with the beauty of the scenery and cultivation that has taken the place of its former aridity bear witness to this and have made Hongkong one of the principal ports in the world.

"During the great war, now happily ended Hongkong was able to carry on shipbuilding with unabated energy and was one of the first of the colonies to introduce compulsory service. I learned with feeling of the great pride that well over five hundred men left the colony for active service, which, in those days, was about one third of the British male population of the colony.

"Your Excellency and Gentlemen, in thanking you once again for your welcome let me assure you that I will most certainly convey to my Father, the King, your message of loyalty and devotion and I shall look forward to the opportunity of telling His Majesty of my first visit to your magnificent port."

ISSUES SOUVENIR NUMBER

Hongkong, April 6.—A special souvenir number of "The Rock"—a Catholic publication and the only monthly magazine published in Hongkong—was issued this morning in honor of the Prince of Wales' visit. The number is what may fittingly be called a "Royal" number.

A specially designed cover, with the Prince's features embossed in gold, was got out from England. The number is profusely illustrated and contains, as a frontispiece, a full plate photograph of the Prince in mufti.

The edition is exceptionally rich in facts and should appeal to the younger generation for the many anecdotes related of the Prince's childhood and early boyhood days. The editorial notes bespeak loyalty and fealty to the Crown, while the leading articles deal with such varied subjects as "The Prince of Wales," "Catholics and the Empire" and "The Chinese Seamen's Strike."

In the "Social and Personal" pages, mention is made of two prominent Shanghai residents, Mr. E. C. Pearce and Mr. E. F. Mackay, and of the part they are taking in the presentation of the addresses from the British communities at Shanghai and the Treaty Ports of China.

THANKS SHANGHAI ENVOYS

Hongkong, April 6.—Replying to representatives of the British Communities in the Treaty Ports the Prince of Wales said:

"I thank you for the terms of your address and sincerely share your regret that the limited time at my disposal has made it impossible for me to visit any of the Treaty Ports. I would ask you to convey this expression of my regret to the British Communities in China with my heartfelt wishes for their prosperity. It affords me much pleasure to receive the assurance that my visit here will strengthen the link connecting you with the Throne and the Mother Country."

The Shanghai address was the only one audible in the hall and Mr. E. C. Pearce read it. The Prince of Wales shook hands with Messrs. Pearce and MacKay after the presentation of the address and said that he had heard of the great port of Shanghai and regretted that time did not permit him to visit it.

REPLIES TO CONSULS

Replying to the address from the Consular Body, the Prince of Wales said:

"I cordially appreciate the welcome, which you, in common with His Majesty's subjects have accorded me. The sentiment to which you gave expression is indeed gratifying, emanating as they do from representatives of other nations, whose interest in the progress of the Colony is as active as our own, and who are materially helping to make Hongkong one of the greatest international trading centers in the East."

"I understand that during the war valuable service to the Colony, in the shape of special constabulary and reserves, was rendered not only by large numbers of the Chinese community, but by many others of foreign nationality."

"I feel sure that the cordial relationships so happily existing will secure your cooperation at all times in the mutual defense of the Colony's interests."

EMBARGO PLACED ON SPECIE AND FOOD BY MUKDEN

Significant Order Given By Chang Tso-lin In Anti-cipation Of War

(Dah Tong News Bureau)

Peking, April 6.—Much significance is attached to the order just issued by Chang Tso-lin, High Inspector-General of the Manchurian province, prohibiting the exportation of specie and foodstuffs beyond the limits of his territory. By this move, Chang expects to restrict the supply to the Chihli Army, which can now only get its ration from the Yangtze region.

After considerable exchange of opinion, Chang has decided to exclude Tsoo Kun out of the Fengtien-Chihli controversy. He will attack Old Hsu by questioning the legality of his office and attack Wu Pei-fu by limiting his military activities. If Wu refrains from showing any opposition, no armed conflict will result, otherwise the terms effecting the joint military operation between Chang and the Southwest against Chihli will be carried out.

The Fengtien troops are aimed at Machang and Chowchow of Chihli, but Wu has openly declared his opposition. Tsoo Kun has also showed signs of disapproval. To avert immediate conflict, Chang will despatch his forces to Chianliangchen while Wu makes a desperate effort to retain his influence over the Tientsin-Pukow Railway.

Pao Kwei-ching, Minister of War upon his return to Peking, announced that the reason why he has refused to accept the Premiership was because he wished to devote his entire energy to serve as a trusted mediator in the Fengtien-Chihli clash. He denied the report that Chang did not favor his appointment.

While Old Hsu is doing his utmost to oust Liang Shih-yi, the latter remains active in Tientsin. The Acting Premier, W. W. Yen, is merely serving as a figure-head. He sends the secretary of the Cabinet, Chang Ming-chen, to Tientsin every other day to receive instructions from Liang.

SEAMAN BOWDIDGE TAKES DECISION OVER HARKINS IN BIG BOUT OF TOURNEY

Lighter Man Holds Champion To Fairly Close Result; Johansson, Jesu And Karanjia Win For Club; Local Boxers Win Five Out Of Six Events With Carlisle Seamen

Seaman Bowdidge of the British cruiser Carlisle, champion middleweight of the China Fleet and former title holder of the Mediterranean sea retained his rule over Far Eastern waters last night at the Town Hall when he gained a decision after some hard milling over Jock Harkins, a man lighter than the champion, yet with a knockout record, and capabilities that won him the house even in a seven round bout. It went to 10 rounds. Harkins fought hard in spots and ducked out of danger when threatened. He kept the bout with but a slight margin in Bowdidge's favor.

The men announced their weights, Bowdidge 156, Harkins 140. Bowdidge showed his advantage in size yet was trim and trained for battle. Harkins though fighter and smaller had a rugged appearance and an air that gave the impression of confidence. He fought well, except when rushed with the superior weight, and did well to hold honors so nearly even. The tournament, which was essentially a test between the Shanghai Boxing Club and the Navy, was a victory for the Shanghai men, the second in the past two years. Of the six bouts in which local men and sailors mixed, Shanghai boys won five. Only Chaney of the Club lost to a sailor and he gave Sailor Botley a hard fight for his decision. Carlson, Slemson, Johansson, Jesu and Karanjia all won their bouts against Carlisle men.

JESU WON BY K. O.
A feature of last night's bouts was the win by Jesu of the Boxing Club over Seaman Maguire of the Carlisle by the knockout route. It was Jesu's first appearance in public, and with a good little man like Maguire opposing him he showed the benefits of fine training. He had the sailor in trouble in the first round flooring him once with a sharp right hook for the count of nine and repeated the trick in the fourth. In the fifth round he dropped the sailor again with the same attack, for the full count. The towel was thrown into the ring just as the 10th was tolled.

Two other matches finished with towels saving a scrapper from severe punishment or a knockout. Sailor Crabbe who substituted Boy Young against Seaman Price, quit in the third round of his scheduled six round bout, and Seaman Barnes of the Cricket quit to Seaman Yorke of the Carlisle in the second round of their scheduled 8-round semi-final. Both men were outclassed in their bouts, and soon found themselves in distress. It was well that their seconds stopped them.

The main event was interesting though not flashy. Both men were clever boxing-fighters, good at dodging, blocking, covering, and footwork with the result that few telling blows got through. Harkins started the bout in the center of the ring, with Bowdidge forced to circle around him. The latter after the first three rounds took a new offensive and soon had the lighter sailor ducking away to safety or fighting it out with his back to the ropes.

SMALL DAMAGE DONE
Mixups were many but not damaging. Much small infighting was had, and much tiring clinching was indulged in. Real blows, however, for the most part fell off with clever dodging or retreating of the other man. Several short jabs and hooks landed, but none had sufficient sting to have telling effect. The men used about the same blows, left jabs and hooks predominating, with Bowdidge perhaps counting the oftener. The latter also tried a hooking uppercut several times, but it never landed.

Harkins was cautioned for butting in the second round. He offended three times, the first of which was passed by Referee Hertzberg. He was cautioned again at the end of the third round for a solar plexus just above the belt. The first, third, fourth, seventh, eighth and ninth rounds were even. Bowdidge had an edge in the second, fifth, sixth and tenth.

The first three rounds may be told in few words. Aside from the butting and the low punch the fight was a succession of small jabs, clinches and light infighting. Harkins made Bowdidge come to him in the first; Bowdidge took the aggressive in the second and third but Harkins kept nicely out of danger. In the fourth Bowdidge rushed his man and often had him fighting from the ropes. Punching was even, and harmless. At going time in the fifth Harkins landed one good left jab to the chin.

Both men began to try for the body from the sixth on. Several light kidney blows landed, Bowdidge having the best of the long range fighting while Harkins did better inside. The pace slowed in the seventh, Harkins giving much around while he rested. He came fresher in the eighth holding his own through harmless milling. At bell time he landed one good left hook to the face.

The men were tired in the last two rounds. Bowdidge was trying to clinch his slight advantage, and with small body punches and an evidence of greater strength and aggressiveness he finished the stronger and better man.

Johansson took the opening preliminary from Todd of the Carlisle, winning all through his 6-round bout. Karanjia of the Club, a new man in local boxing circles scored a narrow win over the smart little Drummer Mew of the Carlisle after six rounds of going. Hertzberg of the Club got a decision over Nobleston of the School, both at 80 lbs. Other bouts have been mentioned.

After the final Capt. E. I. M. Barrett gave the prizes to the winners and losers. During the evening Capt. E. R. G. Evans, C. B., D. S. O., and officers and men of the Carlisle presented the Public School with a beautiful cap for future competitions between the Navy and the School. Mr. G. M. Billings of the school spoke in response. Mr. G. H. Parkes expressed the opinion after the bouts that the tournament was the most successful ever held in Shanghai.

The squad will turn out again tomorrow at 3 p.m. on the same field. The races will not interfere with the practice as the Race Club has announced that the entrance near the ball field will be open all afternoon excepting when racing ponies are passing that gate.

Manager Gallop yesterday took the baseball paraphernalia out of its winter storage, gave it a thorough overhauling and will have it available for the first workout this evening. He has obtained the temporary use of the Swimming Bath on the Recreation Grounds for the use of baseball men as a dressing room until the Club's own quarters are erected after the Spring Race Meeting.

If all reports are true old time Shanghai players will have to show their youthful baseball form or better this year to hold their usual places. Even Bills, Maloney and the best of the others will be forced to go some to hold their berths. There are a number of truly promising men on tap for nearly every position on the diamond.

Tonight's practice opens the training season. The squad will be kept in the field regularly until the stands are up, when the real season will be declared open. Practice games in the meantime, it has been agreed upon will count in the season's standings, so that every candidate will know his work is going into the records, as another urge to hard work.

Sea-Sickness Can be Prevented!

No Drugging—No Unpleasant After-Effects.

An appreciative doctor wrote:—

"Lady—was placed under my care for the voyage home. I could not accept any responsibility as I considered she was in great danger from hemorrhage should she vomit. She had always been a very bad sailor. As a precaution she was given two capsules of 'KIRBY'S SEA-SICK CURE' immediately she went on board. We got into rough water shortly before midnight, but Lady—had an undisturbed night's rest. She took one capsule half-an-hour before dressing. She had breakfast in the dining hall, and assured me she had no sensation of nausea or sickness. Although we had rough weather for five days, and at other periods of the voyage, she was not sea-sick. There was no nausea of any kind, and the remedy produced no after-effects."

There is no indication of eye condition. Many aged people do not need to wear glasses, whereas many children need them at an early age.

Sometimes children, otherwise bright and intelligent, are backward in school on account of defective eyesight which is entirely unsuspected.

Let us test the eyes of your children. Be sure that you know whether or not their eyes are all right.

Improved Control

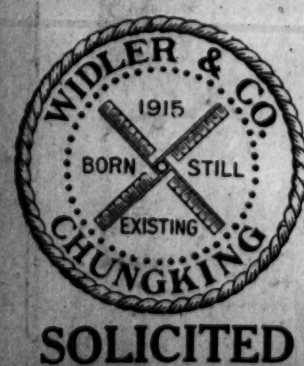

Some Contractors or Consultants might say they do not trouble about these "things" because their clients do not ask for them. How are the clients to know of them?

The Consultant or Contractor who presciently ignores improved methods of switching shifts his eyes to a road part of the advantages of electric lighting.

Improved control is the order of the day, and we are fully alive to the fact. Let us advise with you.

The Chinese Political Stage

"The old man in the Presidential Palace will never come out of the Hsin Hwa (New China) gate until he is carried out upon a stretcher or a bier." Thus say the political writers in the various papers of Peking, who predict an end for the aged mandarin who is titular head of the Chinese Republic as pitiful, although by no means as dramatic, as that of Yuan Shih-kai.

Considerations of face and general timorousness of soul will, it is believed, prevent his throwing his empty title in the faces of the militarists who have made it a hoax; and his threats of resignation in event Dr. W. W. Yen should refuse to be cat-paw with him any longer are discounted as the whinnies of helpless decrepitude.

In general, Wu Pei-fu has treated the President better than have the other warlords, in spite of the fact that Old Hsu, at the point of Tuan Chi-lui's dagger, outlawed Wu and set a price upon his head two years ago. It was the President, who, under the telegraphic bombardment of Wu and his six Tuchunai colleagues, forced Liang Shih-yi out of Peking six weeks ago. Naturally, therefore, the old man can look for no sympathy or quarter from the Chiaotong-Fengtien coalition. His last ray of hope at the present moment is that the Loyang chief will take up the challenge of arms against the Mukden party without further delay.

It is a remote hope. Wu may feel sorry for the President but not sorry enough to risk his strategic position, Wu Pei-fu, whatever may be thought of him as a politician, shows himself still as the best soldier among the rival leaders. Chang may take over the Peking-Pukow railway; this will not, as he thinks, provoke Wu to attack. He may put his henchmen in Shan-tung, Wu's native province; still the Loyang general will, we believe, be able to contain himself. But the day that any rival force touches the Peking-Hankow Railway that force will be the objective of swift unremitting attack.

Each movement of Chang Tso-lin toward the Tientsin-Pukow railway further dissipates his forces. Sun Yat-sen's army, if it advances to the south bank of the Yangtze, will await negotiations. Wu's first concern is for his strategy, which is that of concentration. This he will not sacrifice to the old President's exigency. The Peking-Hankow line is Wu's. And who is there to take it from him by force?

Folk Songs Of Engadine Furnish Composers Melody

Visitors Find Swiss Pigion Possesses Artistic As Well As Scenic Interest

The Engadine is a district famous all over Europe for its beauty, but singularly little known to outsiders under any other name than a holiday resort. Visitors come to the mountains, they ski, skate, walk, dance, botanize, geologize, or take photographs; it is indeed a happy hunting ground for all these pursuits, yet few folk, beyond the inhabitants realise there are things of historic and artistic value to be found. For this perhaps outsiders are not wholly to blame. It is no easy matter for strangers in any country to see below the surface excitement, they are practically different tones. One is called Romansch, the other Latin, and a man from Chur, will hardly understand a man from the Engadine! Nor do the diversities stop at that. In the Engadine itself there are two Latin dialects—that of the Upper Engadine, rather narrow in pronunciation, and that of the Lower Engadine, which is broader and softer.

But if a visitor does happen to be interested in such things as history, folk song and folk art, a whole new vista of pleasures opens out. The little towns, dotted like clouds along the mountain slopes, with their graceful houses and slender church spires, are not quite like anything in the other parts of Switzerland; and they have an air of much history, beyond them. The language, too, is different, while the people appear unlike either the French or German Swiss. In short here is a folk culture so graceful and interesting as to be a romance in itself and it is rendered still more interesting by the signs that this art is helping to form the basis for a definite school of national musical composers.

These things are doubtless well known to Swiss people, but some account of them may be interesting for readers across the sea, and as the Engadine district, its inhabitants, their history and their art are closely linked with each other, a few words of description are really relevant to a consideration of the folk songs.

ROMANTIC GRISONS

The Canton of the Grisons lies in the southeastern corner of Switzerland, adjoining Italy and the Tyrol on its outer frontiers. Switzerland on the north and west. For many centuries it was an independent entity, only coming into the Swiss Federation in 1803—last of the Cantons, and to this day it is regarded as the most conservative. Though the largest among them it is not quite half the size of Yorkshire, yet it has all the sense of character and spaciousness which would best a kingdom. The grandeur and variety of the scenery are remarkable, while the very difficulties of transport and communication seem to have brought out and developed the resources of each little township or commune to the uttermost. Villages but a few miles from each other have quite different customs. As may be supposed, mountains are the dominant feature of the landscape. There are great groups of them, divided by comparatively narrow valleys in which run swift rivers, while above, the huge rock peaks and glaciers front the sky in steady splendor. Two rivers of European fame rise in these mountain masses within a few miles of each other: one the Rhine, which flows to Germany and finally pours into the North Sea; the other the Inn, which, after traversing the long, beautiful valley of the Engadine for some 50 miles, passes into Austria, joins the Danube and ultimately reaches the Black Sea.

ANCIENT HIGHWAY

At first sight, an impassable country, fit only for eagles, yet one of the highways of the ancient world ran through it—the most direct route between Italy and Germany. This came up from Italy by the Splügen Pass, continued through the gorge of the Rhine, called the Via Mala, reached Curia Raetorum (the modern Chur) at a strategic junction of several valleys, and continued north to Lake Constance. Other passes of less importance, but nevertheless useful in connecting Italy with the Grisons, were the Maloja, Julier and Samedan. Until the day one may see the Roman road on the Maloja, driving straight upwards, where now the modern way zigzags in easy gradients.

The original inhabitants of the region are said to have been Celts. But the Romans were not slow to see the military value of the district. They conquered it in 15 B. C. Curia Raetorum became an important town and the population predominantly Roman. So much was this the case that when the Ostrogoths and Franks invaded later on, and Austrian elements also appeared, the Roman still remained the strongest type, and the language spoken today is a direct descendant of the old colonial Latin.

The varieties and cadences are fascinating, but to a stranger there is bewilderment as well as fascination learning that while the Romansch-speaking inhabitants of the Grisons only number about 40,000 persons, out of a total population for the Canton of 120,000 the dialect spoken in the Rhine valley is so different from that belonging to the Engadine that though both are of Romance origin, they are practically different tones. One is called Romansch, the other Latin, and a man from Chur, will hardly understand a man from the Engadine! Nor do the diversities stop at that. In the Engadine itself there are two Latin dialects—that of the Upper Engadine, rather narrow in pronunciation, and that of the Lower Engadine, which is broader and softer.

LANGUAGE AS FACTOR

This language undoubtedly played a large part in determining the characteristics of the folk songs, and though for centuries it was handed down orally, since the fifteenth century it has been also a literary language with many poets of its own.

It would be impossible to say when the folk poems and tunes of the Engadine began, but it is clear that they were in full popularity when the Reformation came to the valley and they served as the model on which the Protestant pastors framed their songs of liberty. These worthy men were shrewd enough to understand the wonderful traveling power of good songs. So they not only used them to inspire, but also to admonish the people. One pastor even wrote a song against dancing! It would be interesting to know what effect it had.

The folk songs certainly continued in full use until the nineteenth century. In the long winter evenings, when the valley lay bound in snow, the Engadine families would sit round the stoves in their cozy parlors and sing these old songs for pleasure. Companionable indeed it must have been. Very charming too was the use of the songs for labor, as when the women met to spin and enlivened the time by singing. Other monotonous or difficult occupations were similarly lightened by song.

One likes to imagine too how they sang over their marvelous embroideries wrought in silk upon satin (which may now be seen in the museum at Chur) or how their handsome national dresses were fashioned to folk tales. Good taste in design is common to the whole Grison district; in the Upper and Lower Engadine it reached its finest development. Here even the ordinary utensils in daily use were invested with originality and beauty, and the architecture of the houses combined with extraordinary success the round-headed arch, square windows, and pointed roof.

MUSIC RESCUED Austrian and French invasions did not stamp out this folk art; but with the discovery of the Upper Engadine as a holiday resort and a cosmopolitan influx of visitors, there seems to have been a real danger that the folk songs would be swamped beneath foreign music. The young people did not learn the traditional songs, only the old remembered them. It is the same story which occurs in almost every record of folk song, of modern civilization ousting ancient culture. Happily for the Engadine its folk music was rescued and recognized just in time by some devoted collectors, foremost among whom was Pieder Linsel, a native of Sest in the Lower Engadine, a musician who works professionally in Geneva. For 15 years he traversed the Engadine district with a phonograph, securing records of folk songs direct from the singers. No place was too remote for him to seek out, no trouble too great to take, he has the recompense of knowing that he rescued scores of good songs from oblivion just in time. Some of them have since been published, but not all are yet available.

Another folk song enthusiast, who has not only done some collecting on his own account, but is also a good folk singer, is Dominie Rauch of Schuls—on, to give the names in their Latin form, Men Rauch of Sest. He found some very interesting songs, notably a ballad called "O be! i Bernard."

Lastly there is a small, rare volume of songs collected some years ago in the Engadine by Lina Linn and Martina Badrut. The title is Latin, is "Chanzunetas da Temp Vest" (Songs of the Olden Time), and the book contains some perfectly delightful specimens, but unfortunately it is now out of print and so practically unobtainable.

Japanese Voters In U. S.

25,000 Will Get Ballot Automatically In Next Eight Years

San Francisco.—Figures collected by the State Board of Control and the Japanese Exclusion League show that more than 25,000 Japanese men and women, born in the United States, will come of voting age, and thus automatically become American citizens, by the end of the next eight years. About 800 of them will come of voting age next year, and the numbers show an increase yearly. Added to this number it is stated that 26,000 Japanese will come into the American franchise in the Hawaiian Islands within the next eight years. This 50,000 voters, with Asiatic parentage, ideas, ideals, motives and methods of government, every one of whom is subject to instant recall for military duty in Japan, are soon to become American voters.

The significance of this is seen in the fact that the Japanese Government, while urging all Japanese in foreign countries to take on the citizenship of the country in which they are living, strongly insists that they never lose their Japanese citizenship, and that their first duty is to the Mikado and the Tokio Government.

In view of this situation and in an effort to prevent the participation in the making of our laws and the electing of our officials of 50,000 Asiatic voters, who, according to their own government's statement, "can assimilate any race, but cannot be assimilated," the Japanese Exclusion League, by resolution to the state Legislature, and both houses of the California State Legislature, by resolution directed to the federal government, have asked for the following three remedial measures:

1. A policy of absolute exclusion of the Japanese, either under treaty or by an act of Congress, as in the case of China, and as rigid in its terms and enforcement as the exclusion law affecting the Chinese.

REPORT FORWARD SALE

"Pests have given practically no trouble and there has been very little disease. The estate was kept in a thoroughly weeded condition and a small amount of thinning out was done. 'Bore' pitting' was continued on all the steep parts of the new clearing and this, in combination with the growth of a cover plant, has practically eliminated all wash. Whyte continued as manager throughout the year and has managed the estate very efficiently single-handed."

"A forward sale of 1 1/2 tons monthly for the whole of 1922 at a price of 42 cents per pound has been made."

"With regard to the accounts there is very little for me to say. The loss on the year's working was Tls. 24,138.96 which I think may be regarded as not unusual for a factory considering that Dominion estate has been resting for a greater part of the year."

"That is all I have to say, gentlemen. If any shareholder has any questions to ask, I shall be pleased to answer to the best of my ability."

Mr. J. V. C. Davis was re-elected a director of the company. Messrs. Lowe, Bingham and Matthews were re-elected auditors of the company for the year.

Anglo-Java Estates Meeting

An extraordinary general meeting of shareholders in the Anglo-Java Estates, Limited was held yesterday afternoon to confirm the resolution passed at the previous extraordinary meeting. There were present Messrs. A. J. Welch (chairman), J. H. McMichael, W. W. Cox (directors) and C. J. L. Stewart, representing J. A. Watlie & Co., Ltd., Secretaries and General Managers. The Chairman said: "Gentlemen: The business before this meeting is of a purely formal character. You have been called together simply to confirm or reject the resolution which was passed at the extraordinary general meeting held on March 21, 1922."

"This being the case, I will read the resolution to you after which I will ask you to vote upon it."

"The resolution reads as follows: 'That the following article shall be substituted for article 79 (a) of the Company's Articles of Association, namely: If he accepts or holds any other office under the Company except that of managing director membership alone or in partnership with others of a firm which holds under the Company the office of secretaries or general managers to the Company shall not cause the office of a director to be vacated.'"

This was seconded by Mr. J. H. McMichael and the resolution was carried unanimously.

Dominion Rubber Company, Ltd.

The eighth annual general meeting of the shareholders of the Dominion Rubber Company, Limited, was held yesterday afternoon at the offices of the secretaries and general managers, Messrs. A. R. Burkill and Sons.

The Chairman, Mr. E. T. Byrne, informed the shareholders of an improvement in the estate. Among those present were Messrs. E. T. Byrne (Chairman), G. Grayrigge and F. W. Sutterlie (directors) and E. A. Prince (secretary) and a number of shareholders.

The Chairman said: "Gentlemen, The report and accounts having been in your hands for some time, I will, with your permission, take them as read."

"At the last annual general meeting the position as regards the Company's Dominion Estate was put before you. You were informed that drastic thinning out had been found necessary, that this work had been taken in hand, and at the same time tapping had been entirely stopped. The results of these measures had been very satisfactory but unfortunately it was found impossible to continue the work owing to lack of funds. On the 30th August 1921 a circular was issued suggesting to shareholders to take up further shares in order to raise funds necessary to put the Dominion property in thorough working order as soon as possible. The result, although not quite up to expectations, was sufficient to enable the work to be carried on. The thinning out work was resumed in October and is being done in two stages, the worst trees being removed first. Altogether a sum of Tls. 33,025 was subscribed and a similar number of shares of the unissued capital was issued, bringing the total number of shares issued to December 31, 1921 to 133,025. We still have a balance of 216,975 shares unissued.

ESTATE'S POSITION IMPROVED
"The position of the estate has been greatly improved and a very considerable progress towards a return to normal conditions is noticeable. Our visiting agent considers that tapping could be safely resumed on some of the fields but it is doubtful whether at the present time tapping over a small area would be remunerative. The resting, however, will considerably benefit the trees and, should the price of rubber recover, tapping may be taken in hand at once."

"Throughout the year expenditure has been carefully kept to a minimum while the permanent interests of the estates have been fully safeguarded. Mr. Skym has acted as manager of the estate since February, 1921, and his work has been very satisfactory indeed. Owing to the cessation of tapping, no statistics are given in the report for Dominion estate. Those for Hendra are given and I am sure you cannot fail to have been struck by the general all-round improvement in the returns from this property. The reduc-
